Davis Mallory Releases Electro Dance-Pop Banger "Dance With Me" Under Sidekick Records

Body:

Nashville Singer-Songwriter and MTV's Real World and Challenge alumnus Davis Mallory is releasing his newest single "Dance With Me" on March 7. "Dance With Me" is an electro dance-pop track co-written by Mallory and produced by French DJ Loic Penillo. It will be released under French record label Sidekick Music. The song is about the potential for love that exists when you first ask someone to dance with you.

Mallory wrote "Dance With Me" as a topline over an instrumental sent by Loic Penillo. Both artists met before attending Amsterdam Dance Event.

"I wrote 'Dance With Me' in September 2017 at a time in my life when I'd been single for a while and, admittedly, felt lonely as evidenced in the lyrics," Mallory said. "I'm lost in the lonely, but it's too hard to show it - My head gets caught in the moment, but my heart doesn't know it" references my tendency to fall in love quickly with a cute guy but realizing I need to slow things down and be ready for the right person."

"In the bridge, I referenced one of my favorite songs off Britney Spears' album Glory, 'Hard to Forget Ya' - 'You're on my mind, I just can't forget ya' ([Spears' lyrics] are: 'there's something about you, I just can't forget ya')"

"Dance With Me" is Mallory's first release in 2018 and follows his many successes in 2017. He had his first songs as a creative signed to record labels: Landis' "Loud (feat Davis Mallory)" dropped on Grammy-nominated French producer Cedric Gervais' Delecta label and earned him a Spotlight Artist feature on the label's website. This was followed by a collaboration with Swedish producer John Dahlback (who has worked with Lady Gaga, Swedish House Mafia, and Avicii) on a release titled "Anyone Would Know," a cornerstone of Dahlback's 2017 album on Armada Records. Mallory's debut EP: LOUD was released on July 7, 2017, and spawned music videos for the title track, "Be Without You", and "Because of Love", which nabbed a feature on EDM powerhouse blog YourEDM. He toured the US after the EP's release - kicking off at Milwaukee Pride (alongside Betty Who & Todrick Hall) and performing in Nashville, LA & NYC. Mallory's hard work and touring in conjunction with the publicity his album garnered set off a snowball effect - his social media channels began seeing a spike in traffic, leading to "Loud" and "Somebody's Watching", a release separate of his EP, surpassing 100,000 listens on Spotify.

Bio:

Davis Mallory is a singer-songwriter, DJ and former reality TV-star appearing on MTV's The Real World: Denver and three seasons of MTV's game show The Challenge. The Atlanta-born artist moved to New York City to pursue music studying at Dubspot School of Electronic Music while performing throughout the club-scene in NYC before moving in 2013 to the Songwriting capital of the world: Nashville, Tennessee. 2014 saw the release of "Beautiful Girls (Diem's Song)" a tribute Davis wrote to his MTV co-star Diem Brown who lost her battle to cancer. 2017 was a landmark year for Davis with his first songs signed to record labels with John Dahlback "Anyone Would Know (featuring Davis Mallory)" signed to Armada Music and Landis' "Loud (feat Davis Mallory)" signed to Grammy-nominated French producer Cedric Gervais' label Delecta earning Davis a spotlight feature on Cedric's website for his songwriting skills. YourEDM ran a story on Davis' collaboration with French duo Vorden on the track "Because Of Love (feat Davis Mallory)." Davis released his debut EP "LOUD" on July 7, 2017 and toured the US kicking off at Milwaukee Pride (alongside Betty Who & Todrick Hall) and performing in Nashville, LA & NYC. Davis spent the second half of 2017 living in Amsterdam writing music for 2018 releases. His first release of 2018, "Dance With Me" is a product of teaming up with French DJ Loic Penillo and will be the first of many singles Mallory has lined up for release in 2018. Stay tuned, and check back for new music!

Press Quotes:

"Davis Mallory is one of his generation's best artists that deserves to break into the mainstream music industry. The Real World: Denver alum proves that he is a sharp songwriter while surpassing the standards that tastemakers look at in up-and-coming artists in both the EDM and singer-songwriter genres." – Jake's Take, 2017

"Mallory's voice is sultry... music video is artistic and creative, and he emerges as the male version of Lady Gaga, a comparison which ought to be taken as a compliment" - Digital Journal, 2017

His sound embodies his love for EDM, influence of pop music, and even a hint of his southern roots" - Cedric Gervais, Delecta Records, 2017
